Reno-Tahoe International Airport Offers Multiple Ways to Travel to Nashville to Support the Wolf Pack

Reno, Nev. – The Reno-Tahoe International Airport (RNO) congratulates Eric Musselman and the Wolf Pack men’s basketball team on their selection to the NCAA Tournament and we are ready to help fans fly to Nashville, Tennessee to support the Wolf Pack in their first round game this Friday against the University of Texas.

RNO has multiple ways to travel to the Nashville area. While Reno Airport does not currently offer non-stops to Nashville directly, there are several one-stop options from Reno to Music City.

“Let’s get the tournament off to a flying start!” said Marilyn Mora, President/CEO of the Reno-Tahoe Airport Authority. “You can support the Pack in person by taking one of more than five flight options from Reno-Tahoe International to Nashville. Take a flight, enjoy the basketball and the county music.” Mora said.

We encourage Wolf Pack fans bound for tournament to review the flight list below and then go to the airline web site to book a seat today.

American Airlines: departs Reno at 6:15 a.m., stops in Dallas, and arrives in Nashville at 2:35 p.m.

Delta Airlines: departs Reno at 10:46 a.m., stops in Salt Lake City, and arrives in Nashville at 6 p.m.

Southwest Airlines has two options: a 6:10 a.m. flight departs Reno and stops in Denver, arriving Nashville at 2 p.m. and another flight departs
